NEW BUILD

More power

Sunreef Yachts has unveiled a luxurious second edition of its 100 Sunreef Power catamaran.

Sunreef Yachts has launched the second 100 Sunreef Power superyacht, saying it marks a significant step forward in its ongoing superyacht expansion. The 100 Sunreef Power 2.0 can accommodate 12 guests, plus crew. The layout includes a full-beam master on the main deck, with private access to the bow terrace.

With a length of 29.95 metres and a beam of 13.5, the 100 Sunreef Power boasts a volume of 300 gross tonnage with ample living areas. The aft deck features a 16-metre-wide walkaround beach club with fold-out platforms, storage rooms for water toys and diving gear, and an invisible aft garage housing two jetskis and a refuelling station.

The flybridge features an enclosed cigar lounge with a bar, an 85-inch TV and lounging sofas. The standard flybridge also has a spa and a gym.

It's powered by twin MAN V8s, which provide a range of more than 3,000 miles at 10 knots. Hardtop solar panels help run the hotel systems day and night.

The 100 Sunreef Power is Sunreef's largest motor catamaran, although this will soon give way to the 49-metre Sunreef Power, currently under construction.

More Maiora

The latest Maiora Exuma 35 has been launched at Next Group's facilities in Italy. Like her three sisterships, she has been extensively customised.

The 36-metre yacht is driven by three water jets powered by three MTU engines, which give a maximum speed of almost 35 knots. A 1.3-metre draft also means access to some of the world's most idyllic cruising grounds. Two gyros minimise roll underway and at rest.

The Exuma 35 has space for a tender over 6.5 metres, stored in the side garage, while a second garage aft holds a 3.5-metre service tender and toys including Seabobs, inflatables, scuba gear, SUP boards, Fliteboards and wakeboards.

Thanks to the extensive use of glass, the bespoke interiors are bathed in light, with floor-to-ceiling glazed surfaces in the saloons, large windows in the master suite, and guest cabins on the lower deck.

All areas open up to create inside-outside spaces, and a lift allows guests to move between the decks.

The upper saloon cleverly converts into an on-demand flybridge by opening a door, sliding the moon-roof open and lowering the side windows.
